

Me on my last day in the office, with one of my Laidlaw peers working in the background.

The Newsroom all gathered for the moment when Boris Johnson resigned as Prime Minister – historical!

The newsroom is built by the principle of Slow News, as the sign in the office reminds us.

Here I am sharing some of my data analytics with one of the senior team employees on zoom.

When I had time I would go explore London – this is my first time seeing Big Ben!
