Progress Made

My publication was published in Dawn magazine on Monday. The rest of the week was virtual due to a storm which caused severe flooding and loss of power in various parts of Lahore. The office did not have power so the Advocacy Team leader informed the interns that we could take Monday and Tuesday off. Wednesday - Friday were national holidays due to Eid.

Improvements

Due to the extenuating circumstances, this week was obviously not as productive as it could have been. One assignment which I did not have the ability to do which I wish I had found some way to finish was to create Instagram reels for International Torture Day which could be put on the JPP Instagram and other social media platforms.

Learnings/Leadership Insights

This week I primarily learned more about my culture and roots through the Eid festivities. I got reach exposure to the background and history surrounding Eid, and was able to take note of the differences between how Eid is celebrated by Muslims in the US vs in Pakistan.

Future Focus Items

Carried over from the last week.
