“We operate on the principle that social injustices should not be dismissed as individual responsibility, and that problems can be resolved through collective action and dialogue.”

How do we do this?

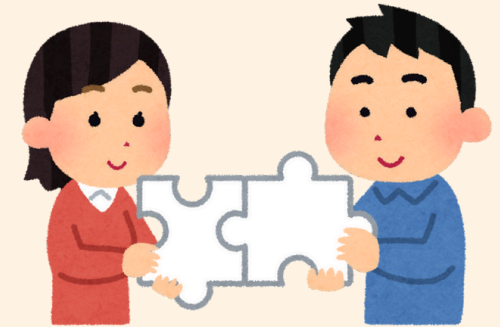

Philosophy:

Our consciousness and thoughts are influenced and shaped by the values of society.

So, we need to increase daily opportunities to come into contact with information that encourage us solve issues together.

What do we need to achieve this?

- Successful experiences to realise ‘change is possible’!
- Recognise the problem.
- A sympathetic and inclusive environment.
- To expand our activities to include as many people as possible.
